REPORT

The technology, teaching & learning services, and professional development teams have been working as a focused team with district teaching staff to design and implement a curricular redesign rooted in standards based instruction and reporting.

Tonight, we will share the results of a key prototype. The technology integration team will explain to the board and community how unpacked standards are being aligned to learning and learning measured with authentic artifacts of mastery. They will also share how personalized teaching has been used to ensure that all teaching staff are successful and supported.

We will share the details of a simple technology framework that allows staff to share the learning objectives with all stakeholders while bringing families into the learning growth of their children.
